Cobalt Poets Series # 601 ~ January 9, 2024

Somewhere With The Phantom of Love

Rocking and rolling through a long night of sining springs

Morning dew and gone was al the fun and all of the money and her sweet lips tasted like baby batter and real bee honey.....

Paul Body

Have always been a lover of words, from great movie quotes to red hot open word in person. Was a on few open word CD' in the 80's. Even put a CD on New Alliance called Love Is Like Rasputin. It was a diary of one year in my during 1965. It came out in 1993. Really got into the word thing by digging Leiber and Stoller , their stuff was cinematic. Of course dug the Dirty Old Man, Buk. Born and raised in Boss Angeles, living here can give you whiplash because of the changes but like one guy said, "I am going to stay until it's over". Been working on something for the past few years called HOSTAGE TO THE BEAT, which is about music but the words should make you want to dance. So that is where I am today. Hope this is enough. With a little more time I can come UP with some more tales.